Bloom Where You Work Project

Celebrating the Women Who Make Our District Bloom

This project is a physical way to celebrate the incredible women we work with every day. By “planting” a note of appreciation on a colleague’s workspace, we can turn our hallways and offices into a visible garden of gratitude.

How to Participate:

- 1. Print the Template: Scroll to the next page and print out as many “Flower Templates” as you’d like.
- 2. Write Your Note: In the white space provided, write a quick message of appreciation to your colleague. Whether it’s a “thank you” for a shared success or a note on their daily impact, your words matter!
- 3. “Plant” the Appreciation: Take your completed note and tape it to the recipient’s classroom door or office cubicle wall. Let’s see how many “gardens” we can grow on the doors, desks, and classrooms across our district!
- 4. Share the Moment: Take a photo of the note on the door or cubicle! Post it to social media and tag PGCPS on Instagram and LinkedIn so we can celebrate these highlights across our entire community.

Rooted in gratitude for you:

Help us share the joy! Snap a photo of your appreciation note and tag PGCPS on Instagram and LinkedIn so we can celebrate with you.
